Massive ROI - A Case Study in Retention and Disposition in a Law Firm

Please join ARMA NOVA for our January chapter meeting. Our program theme for this chapter season is "The State of the Art in Records and Information Management." In January Doug Smith, Business Solutions Manager for Wiley Rein LLP, will join us to discuss how he successfully created and implemented a Big Bucket approach to retention and started on the road of defensible deletion in a very short time, with a significant return on investment. He shared this presentation at the ARMA International conference in September, where it was very well received.

And keep your eyes open for more on the upcoming Education Seminar in February.

We finished 2012 with our annual charity dinner meeting on December 19, 2012, featuring Training Futures of Fairfax VA. With member contributions and matching chapter contributions, we made a significant donation to Training Futures for their work in preparing students for skilled office work.

We are having a great 2012-2013 program year on the theme “State of the Art in Records Management.” We had a dinner meeting on Wednesday, November 12, 2012, with Susan Cisco and Sue Trombley speaking on “The Role of Records Coordinators”.

On Wednesday, October 17, 2012, we welcomed back Paul Wester of NARA who shared with us the “Update on the NARA Records Management Directive,” which resulted from the Presidential Records Management Order.

Make sure you use our new ARMA NOVA website address at www.arma-nova.org/index.htm – please reset your bookmarks for the new URL.

Our thanks to our Sponsors. Their financial support and assistance with our programs allow us to better serve our members. If your organization would like to become a sponsor in 2012-2013 to raise its profile and further the work of the Chapter, please contact me or one of the Executive Board members.

Mark your calendar NOW with the dates for upcoming meetings in 2012-2013: Dinner meetings at the Marco Polo on January 16, February 20, March 20, April 17, and May 15; all-day Education Seminar at George Mason’s Arlington campus in February; and our Annual Social in June on a date to be determined.

Make the most of opportunities that the Chapter provides. Come to meetings, get involved in our committees. Committee work is a backbone of our Chapter’s success. Please let me know, if you are interested in joining a committee or if you have suggestions that can improve our Chapter.

I look forward to sharing some time with you this Winter.

Massive ROI - A Case Study in Retention and Disposition in a Law Firm

In 2011, Wiley Rein LLP began implementing a retention policy. In eighteen months, nearly 30% of the records collection will be queued for disposition. In this session, you will learn how to create the policy, obtain C-Level approval, and develop momentum for implementation. You will walk away with practical resources that will enable you to begin disposition of records collections with a plan and effective tools, including cost/benefit projections.

Upon completion of this session participants will be able to: 1. Use big bucket theory to create a records retention/disposition policy 2. Identify starting points and blocks to implementing a records retention policy 3. Explore practical tips to reducing cost and delay in processing disposition decisions 4. Develop useful job aids and ideas for electronic processing of retention decisions 5. Recognize and navigate potential obstacles and areas of risk in implementing your plan.

About our Speakers:

Doug Smith, Business Solutions Manager for Wiley Rein LLP, has been managing legal records and information for more than 20 years. He has worked extensively to develop systems to ensure the efficient, effective, and compliant handling of records. Doug co-edited the revision of the ARMA Glossary and has assisted with ARMA guidelines dealing with RIM/IT relations, litigation support, and handling electronic messages as records. He is a former president of the Greater Washington D.C. chapter of ARMA, and currently serves as that chapter's vice president. He can be reached at dsmith@wileyrein.com.

Joint ARMA NOVA/NCC-AIIM Seminar

Attorneys and Algorithms: The Case for Technology-Assisted Review and Categorization
February 27, 2013

Please join the Northern Virginia Chapter of ARMA and the National Capital Chapter of AIIM for our joint 2013 seminar. Our topic is the increasingly interrelated worlds of technology-assisted review and auto-categorization.

Last year ARMA NOVA and NCC-AIIM co-sponsored a highly successful seminar on autoclassification. The response was so good that we decided to schedule a follow-up seminar, with more case studies and input from our legal colleagues.

What is the state of the art in technology-assisted review and auto-categorization? How much can RIM professionals learn from the legal profession's experience with technology-assisted review? How can these tools be defended in court? What are their strengths and weaknesses? What role will auto-categorization play in addressing the challenge of the Archivist's Managing Government Records directive?

NCC-AIIM and ARMA NOVA have assembled an internationally recognized panel of speakers to address all of these questions and more in an all-day seminar. Come take a deep dive into technology-assisted review and auto-categorization with us.

Agenda:

- | | |
